Our Leadership: A Master Class DVDs can be purchased from our website under a personal, educational, or corporate license.

Buying a personal, educational, or corporate license from our site allows you to utilize the content for training with a DVD Player on a self-study basis, in a classroom, or as part of an employee training/corporate library, respectively, but does not give you permission to copy the DVD to a network, or broadcast it to more than 10 people, or on a recurring basis, without written permission.

Written permission for these uses can be provided via a site license or a hosted license contract that is typically based on the number of employees who will be viewing the video content and the amount the content will be used. A hosted license allows a corporation or institution access to the video files that may be indigenously hosted in a content system and delivered across a network - making it accessible for employees or students to train when schedules allow and regardless of location.

Please contact pr@morethansound.net for delivery and pricing of the site license/hosted license options.

Public Performance Rights

Public performance rights (PPR) are included with every legally-acquired DVD or streaming version of Leadership: A Master Class when purchased at the educational or corporate price levels. These rights permit an educational institution, non-profit organization, or company to exhibit the video to gatherings of up to 10 people.

Not included with PPR are screenings involving more than 10 people, recurring (programmatic) screenings, screenings where admission is charged or which are publicized to the general public, except that public libraries may publicize the event to its patrons and citizens in the community it serves. Broadcasting or posting the video to a digital network accessible to the general public, including the Internet and World Wide Web, are also prohibited. If your intent requires rights extending beyond those described above you will need a written contract with More Than Sound - please contact us at pr@morethansound.net.
